

The purpose of this book

This book is written to give children the best possible record of their growing up years. For children who may be or may have been moved from home to home, never knowing who loved and cared for them, this memory building book gives them an account of their daily lives and their developmental stages.

By taking the time to fill out the pages, you are letting this child know that he/she is valuable, worth knowing, and worth remembering.

To Know You Are Loved

Chosen, Cherished, Loved

That is who you are

Boy or girl, big or small

Children of God, He knows you all

Created in His image, designed by His heart

All of you are special; you each have an important part

In our lives and in your own

You will find your destiny as you grow

So record all the facts, list all the stories

Always treasure the lasting memories

To know where you've been is to know who you are

In order to cherish the blessings you impart.
